THE ART OF TRANSFORMATION
140 years after its creation, SFL continues to offer its tenants superlative property solutions in outstanding locations. SFL transforms its buildings into iconic, innovative, one-of-a-kind assets in any number of ways, by abolishing limits, by opening up, raising and metamorphosing spaces, by reviving unused areas, and by remodelling outer shells to make them a contemporary reading on the building's original spirit. Today, positioned exclusively in the prime Parisian commercial property market, SFL is growing the value of its asset portfolio through bold renovation and remodelling projects resonant with the needs of its corporate tenants and their employees.

DEVELOPMENT PROJECTS

Three major transformation projects in 2019
In 2019, projects were initiated to drive the in-depth transformation of three assets: Biome, in the 15th arrondissement, 83 Marceau and Louvre Saint-Honoré. Work has begun on all three sites, but most of the year was spent managing regulatory issues and obtaining the building permits, which have all been secured following the close of the appeal period. This successful outcome attests to SFL’s expertise in leading large-scale projects in the capital.

Nicolas Tenneret,

Major Projects Director

“Biome is a redevelopment project that illustrates SFL’s technical expertise and bold vision in transforming and increasing the value of character office properties. To be successful in this type of adventure, you not only have to think outside the existing box, to give the architectural structure new scope and new meaning, but you also have to read and express a neighbourhood’s identity.”

ACQUIRED BY SFL IN 2017, THE UNUSUALLY SPACIOUS BIOME BUILDING IS LOCATED ON A 6,300 SQ.M. PLOT IN THE HEART OF PARIS’ 15TH ARRONDISSEMENT. ITS METAMORPHOSIS REFLECTS SFL’S STRATEGIC FOCUS ON INCREASING THE VALUE OF ITS PROPERTIES BY ENABLING THEM TO DELIVER BOTH OUTSTANDING ENVIRONMENTAL PERFORMANCE AND AN UNMATCHED USER EXPERIENCE.

A prime example of modernist architecture, the former headquarters of the SMA BTP insurance company was built in 1966 by architects Pottier, Lopez and Leroy, who advocated a rational, structured architectural vision based on verticality. Today, Biome is the cornerstone of an ambitious urban project, combining the mixed use functionality of the 15th arrondissement, the new quality standards for innovative office buildings and the stunning environmental benefits of its entire block of tree-filled grounds. Biome has been completely reworked to bring natural light into every floor and to make plants and landscaping a predominant feature. As a locus of sharing and interaction, it has also been upgraded into a leading business centre for western Paris, with high-tech office floor plates and top-of-the-line amenities. Thanks to the Jouin Manku agency, its workspaces are highly conducive to collective intelligence workstyles and emerging collaborative working practices.

Creation of a new building to house a premium business center. The new amenities – an auditorium, co-working offices, meeting rooms, restaurant and cafeteria – will look out over both the city and the landscaped gardens.

Behind the Scenes

BREEAM certification is already a prerequisite for every new transformation project, but with Biome, SFL wanted to take the process to the next level by earning triple certification under the HQE®, BREEAM and LEED® standards. The new complex has also been designed to comply with the forthcoming standards in France’s commercial real estate energy savings decree* with the judicious, carefully managed use of water and energy. The buildings are all equipped with the latest generation energy management systems, solar panels and connections to the Paris district heating and cooling networks (with the latter used for the buildings’ air conditioning systems). In all, 30% of the power will come from renewable sources.

Above all, Biome is one of the capital’s first low-carbon building remodelling projects, compliant with BBCA-Rénovation standards, which is an ambitious undertaking for a structure built in the mid-1960s. It is also a one-of-a-kind biodiversity project. With 2,500 sq.m. of the total 6,300-sq.m. site fully landscaped and planted with more than 70 regional plant species, it offers an unusually vast natural environment for this type of office complex. The landscaping project, designed and implemented by landscape architect Thierry Laverne, is helping to meet the Paris city government’s goal of adding 100 hectares of vegetation to the city’s walls and roofs. The spaciousness of the vegetated areas will enable the reuse of rainwater, while helping to mitigate rising temperatures in the city.

83 Marceau, the revival of L’Étoile

WITHOUT MODIFYING ITS URBAN FOOTPRINT, 83 MARCEAU IS UNDERGOING A METAMORPHOSIS BY REMODELLING ITSELF FROM THE INSIDE OUT. THE RESULTING INCREASE IN OCCUPATION DENSITY HAS OPENED UP VAST WORKING SPACES, WHICH ARE VERY RARE IN THE NEIGHBOURHOOD, AND ADDED A PANORAMIC ROOFTOP TERRACE OFFERING EXCEPTIONAL VIEWS OF THE ARC DE TRIOMPHE.

The site, just a stone’s throw from the Arc de Triomphe, was home to a private townhouse that was demolished in the late 1960s to make way for a concrete-heavy “modern” building, which had not been significantly updated since. SFL wanted to reconnect the building with the identifying features of Place de l’Étoile, with a limestone façade reminiscent of the Arc de Triomphe, but with an extremely contemporary reading. The floor plan has been completely renovated to increase the surface area in a neighbourhood where square metres are in high demand. In particular, SFL proactively responded to emerging trends in urban mobility by repurposing a large amount of space formerly used by cars.

Spaces were also opened up in the concrete shell to let natural light in and allow people to get around more easily. In a major feat of advanced engineering, the inner courtyard was excavated down to a depth of seven metres to rebuild three underground levels, transforming them from parking garages into a garden, common areas and amenity spaces.

Alongside other iconic projects, the transformation of 83 Marceau is helping to revitalise the Étoile neighbourhood after several lacklustre years.

"Dominique Perrault’s architectural vision has enabled us to repurpose around 1,700 sq.m. of space, most of which was formerly used for cars. In a neighbourhood as restricted as L’Étoile, that’s a real tour de force." - Dimitri Boulté, Managing Director and Chief Operating Officer of SFL.

“The project revitalises the vast substructure with new spaces, all illuminated with natural light. This transformation means that we can upgrade living spaces with new features.”

Dominique Perrault, Architect, Cabinet DPA

83 Marceau is SFL’s most successful prime office building project. The property offers all the features of a 21st century office, seamlessly integrated into the city and its direct environment, and naturally conducive to collective intelligence and collaborative interaction. After all, an office is just as much a social space as a place to work. In fact, 72% of Parisian employees say they come to the office primarily to socialise with their colleagues.4 This was the spirit guiding the building’s metamorphosis. The vast, entirely open-plan floor plates encourage people to move about and interact, setting the stage for new ways of working and innovative managerial practices. Designed by interior architect Ana Moussinet, the high-quality common areas – meeting and conference rooms, cafeteria and restaurants – were inspired by airport lounges and help to position 83 Marceau firmly in a modern aesthetic. After designing the Paris offices of such leading companies as Facebook, BlaBlaCar and McKinsey, SFL has once again demonstrated its ability to imagine stunning interior layouts based on bold architectural choices.

*SFL-Paris WorkPlace 2019

By reinvesting the space formerly occupied by utilities, the terrace has opened 83 Marceau onto the Paris skyline and breathtaking views of the Arc de Triomphe. It is exceptionally large, covering a total of 370 sq.m.

(AROUND 1,250 SQ.M. ON A TYPICAL FLOOR AND 750 SQ.M. ON THE TOP FLOOR), EACH OF WHICH CAN ACCOMMODATE A LITTLE OVER 100 EMPLOYEES.
The rebirth of Louvre Saint-Honoré

SFL’s determination to surpass itself in every project is reflected in the way it systematically sets itself new challenges, rather than succumbing to the temptation of reproducing well-worn models. It is in this spirit that the project to repurpose the former Louvre des Antiquaires will be carried out gradually over the next four years.

Three and a half years of redevelopment on 20,000 sq.m. can mean only one thing: an outstanding renovation is in the works. That is indeed what is happening in the Louvre Saint-Honoré building, where all of the interior spaces on the lower floors (first underground level, ground floor and first floor) are being redefined by a major transformation of the building’s structure. Extra-clear glass skylights, aerial gardens and vast spaces bathed in natural light will support the rebirth of this legendary property, originally built for the Paris Exposition Universelle in 1855 and long home to the famous Grands Magasins du Louvre department store.

When the project is completed in 2023, it will feature modular spaces capable of hosting artworks and exhibitions on an exceptional scale, with a design inspired by the platform elevators that facilitate scenery changes at the Bastille Opera house. It is here that the future tenant, the Cartier Foundation for Contemporary Art, has chosen to exhibit its collections.

The project is being led by B Architecture, with the support of design firm Ateliers Jean Nouvel since 2018. The building, whose upper floor offices are let, will remain in commercial use during the project, with staggered working hours and other measures helping to limit inconvenience and construction site disamenities.

Totalling 20,000 sq.m., the lower floors (first underground level, ground floor and first floor) of Louvre Saint-Honoré will be the future home of the Cartier Foundation for Contemporary Art.
SFL EMBODIES AN INNOVATIVE VISION FOR COMMERCIAL PROPERTY IN THE HEART OF PARIS.
"For 140 years, we’ve been inspired by excellence and a talent for foresight."

Juan José Brugera Clavero, Chairman
& Nicolas Reynaud, Chief Executive Officer

140 years of growth

SFL celebrated its 140th year in business in 2019. What does such longevity mean to you?

J.B.C.: When Henri Germain founded Société Foncière Lyonnaise in 1879, he probably didn’t imagine that 140 years later it would be the leading prime commercial real estate company in Paris. Today, SFL stands out not only because it has endured, which attests to the soundness of its investment choices over the decades, but also because it still vibrantly embodies its original values. I am thinking in particular of the high standards of excellence that Henri Germain set from the beginning and the constant search for quality – of the locations, the architecture and the buildings, but also of the redevelopments and renovations.

N.R.: Without this uncompromising focus on excellence and modernity, SFL would never have reached the position it holds today. Longevity has never meant giving in to inertia or the status quo. True to the founder’s intentions, SFL teams over the years have learned to push back the boundaries, take risks and innovate. This spirit of boldness and daring has informed a lot more than just our investment choices. Whether we’re talking about architecture, interior design, innovative work practices, environmental performance or urban mobility, SFL offices are living environments inspired by their immediate surroundings and by changing social trends and behaviour.

N.R.: By choosing Paris, we also confirmed our decision to position ourselves as the property company par excellence, with outstanding assets. Today, 98% of our portfolio is located within Paris itself, in the city’s most central districts. But being in the heart of Paris is also very demanding. You have to be passionate about what you do and love peerless architecture; you have to pay attention to the latest trends and emerging tenant needs; and you have to demonstrate impeccable knowledge of building and urban planning regulations. Our team, which is entirely in-house, comprises talented people who know how to address all of these demanding issues.

How has SFL’s growth become so closely tied to urban development in Paris?

J.B.C.: Ever since its founding, SFL has been a forward-looking, engaged property company that has embraced change and the emergence of new cityscapes. We’re not scared of transformation, on the contrary, we’re drawn to it. In the beginning, SFL rode the wave of urban modernisation, getting involved in every sort of project, although with a predilection for mixed-use office and residential developments. In addition to Paris, it invested in Nice, Cannes and Ospedaletti, Italy, but always with a focus on the capital and the opportunities offered by Haussmann’s massive infrastructure projects. This was the city where we honed our skills as property developers and renovators, where we reshaped entire neighbourhoods, such as around rue Victor Hugo in the 16th arrondissement; where we forged our identity and acquired a unerring taste for transformation and boldness.

N.R.: By choosing Paris, we also confirmed our decision to position ourselves as the property company par excellence, with outstanding assets. Today, 98% of our portfolio is located within Paris itself, in the city’s most central districts. But being in the heart of Paris is also very demanding. You have to be passionate about what you do and love peerless architecture; you have to pay attention to the latest trends and emerging tenant needs; and you have to demonstrate impeccable knowledge of building and urban planning regulations. Our team, which is entirely in-house, comprises talented people who know how to address all of these demanding issues.
1995, affirming a new model

1995 marked a strategic turning point in your history... N.R.: The real estate slump in the 1990s prompted us to rethink our model. How can we keep creating value and offer a superior tenant experience in a turbulent property market environment? How can we most effectively embody the search for excellence that has been our value proposition for more than a century? We chose to specialise in the prime office segment, which we felt offered the best opportunities for delivering exceptional amenities and services. The outstanding acquisition, transformation and divestment projects undertaken since the repositioning have consistently demonstrated the validity of our new model and made us the segment leader.

N.R.: Our results hit another all-time high in 2019, with very strong indicators. Rental income, which reflected a remarkable occupancy rate of 97.4%, increased by around 3%. EPRA earnings gained nearly 12% and EPRA net asset value improved by more than 11%. So we are continuing to capture all the value of our positions while laying the foundations for growth in the years ahead. After all, SFL’s business cycle is very long, and investments don’t pay off until many years down the road. This was the case for the in-depth remodelling projects carried out in the 2010-2015 period and is still the case for Biome, 83 Marceau and Louvre Saint-Honoré, the three major redevelopment projects currently under way.

Prime office space, a niche market

Does the current market environment confirm your choice?

J.J.B.C.: Yes, more than ever. The Parisian office market is doing very well and is still attracting investors from around the world. It is liquid, deep and resilient, and is expected to continue to grow. This is extremely positive for SFL’s assets, which have steadily increased in value year after year (up 9% in 2019, after a 5.5% gain in 2018)

N.R.: The market’s exceptionally strong appeal is highly unusual, especially given the uncertain international environment. That’s why we are watching for the slightest sign of overheating. For now, we’re moving forward cautiously, but with peace of mind. Our investment capacity is still very comfortable and our close-knit team means we can be extremely responsive.

The art of transformation

What is so distinctive about Biome, 83 Marceau and Louvre Saint-Honoré?

N.R.: To offer our tenants the best solutions, we have to innovate. Even in a space as restricted and regulated as Paris, you can always push the envelope. These three major transformation projects, which will take three years to complete, are demonstrating that it is possible to beautify existing premises while giving them a contemporary interpretation, and to create a harmonious whole while addressing vertical density issues. With 83 Marceau, we’re recreating nearly 10,000 sq.m. of contemporary office space in the highly popular yet highly restricted neighbourhood around Place de l’Etoile. In the 15th arrondissement, with Biome, we’re developing a bold office complex with the creation of an egg-shaped pavilion to house a business centre. As for the transformations planned for the 20,000 sq.m. of lower floor space in Louvre Saint-Honoré, I can assure you that they will be spectacular. We already know that the potential future rents from these assets, located in such outstanding neighbourhoods, will be very significant. But more importantly, they are indicative of how we continuously demonstrate our expertise and create value.

TRANSFORMING MEANS BEING ABLE TO PROJECT YOURSELF INTO THE FUTURE.

TODAY, SFL IS THE PROUD CUSTODIAN OF ITS FOUNDER’S HERITAGE OF EXCELLENCE AND MODERNITY.

Proficiency across the value chain

FROM ASSET ACQUISITION TO DIVESTMENT, SFL IS INVESTED IN EVERY STAGE IN THE LIFE OF A BUILDING.

SFL has fully integrated, in-house capabilities across the value chain, giving it a significant competitive advantage in a commercial property market where such an approach is far from systematic. By bringing all the necessary expertise and capabilities in-house, our company is not only more agile and responsive, it can also take a holistic view of each project to address such issues as its judicious integration into the neighbourhood and the cityscape, design and redevelopment specifications that are both resonant with Parisian architectural codes and assertively modern, sensitivity to biodiversity, and tenant mobility needs and aspirations.

Our teams work closely and diligently with tenants, who deserve the finest office buildings and amenities, and with all our partners, including architects, designers, landscapers, design engineers and Paris city planners.

Pierre-Yves Bonnaud, Asset Management and Client Management Director

“Every one of our tenants is unique and we design spaces for them that reflect their image. At the same time, we also deliver the bespoke solutions they expect, with well-designed, scalable, smart offices. Plus, we try to surprise them, which means we have to know them well. That’s why we pay very close attention to nurturing our tenant relationships. Listening to them, advising and supporting them, and understanding their issues in the smallest detail are what drive our tenant-centric approach.”

Intelligent building design to guarantee superior environmental performance

As a responsible, engaged property company, SFL leverages innovative design and technical processes to keep its environmental footprint as small as possible. Its choices are guided by a firm belief in the possibility of developing intelligent, sustainable buildings and a deep commitment to reducing their energy use and carbon emissions.

Aesthetics & Architecture

SFL enjoys recognised expertise in transforming all types of character buildings, from private townhouses to post-modern industrial complexes. In converting them into prime office buildings that are both innovative and contemporary, SFL and its partners craft audacious projects where the constant search for excellence delivers beautiful, eye-pleasing buildings with remarkable functionality. Confident in their identifying features and appeal, SFL offers its tenants offices that reflect their positions as market leaders. An SFL office is an invaluable resource in projecting their image and widening their impact.

Technical quality & flexibility

Every project is unique, but each one is designed and executed with the same commitment to bespoke solutions. To revitalise these spaces, SFL consistently pushes back conventional boundaries - raising, opening and excavating to endow the buildings with outstanding technical features and extend their useful lives. Thanks to their leading edge facilities and amenities, SFL designed spaces offer tenants complete freedom to lay out their premises as they like, along with an energy performance complying with the highest standards. In 2019, SFL continued to innovate to improve energy management and use in its buildings, particularly Cézanne Saint-Honoré and Édouard VII.

Nearby locations & mobility

With 98% of its assets located in Paris proper, SFL is committed to offering nearby locations, hyper-connected amenities, shorter commuting times and lower greenhouse gas emissions. This need for convenient, central locations also resonates with the expectations of employees, for whom workplace well-being largely depends on the length of their commute and their ability to work in a lively, exciting neighbourhood. Each transformation project is also an opportunity to thoroughly rethink urban mobility and how cars should be used in cities. SFL designs micro-mobility solutions into every project and tries to repurpose, as much as possible, the space previously used for cars.

SFL’s environmental innovation in action

Stepped up since 2012, SFL’s social responsibility initiatives are focused on designing and delivering high-quality buildings that are more flexible in use and therefore more sustainable. These initiatives foreshadowed France’s commercial real estate energy savings decree, whose application since October 2019 has profoundly changed how property companies approach these issues and ensure compliance. SFL’s choices in terms of materials re-use, landscaping and support for biodiversity, advanced, high-tech utilities to optimise and reduce water and energy use, and the design of floor plates with high-quality technical features are all responses to the need to reconsider the way we consume, build and refurbish.

Eric Oudard, Technical and Development Director

Some capital projects have an immediate and particularly positive impact on carbon emissions. What really makes the difference is opting for the latest generation materials and facilities, which are more expensive but also more efficient. At Édouard VII, replacing and improving the BMS, combined with improved automatic control practices, drove a 30% year-on-year reduction in energy use in 2019.

Reducing energy use: a technological challenge

Since 2016, every newly signed office lease, including for spaces under 2,000 sq.m., has included an environmental appendix, attesting to the success of the partnerships formed by SFL to reduce building energy use. This capability has also been supported by the increasing digitalisation of building management jobs, which is improving data collection and processing, and by more efficient reporting and management systems.

Extending buildings’ useful lives with excellent, high-tech floor plates

In 2019, office floor plates in 176 Charles de Gaulle were refurbished, in the same spirit of excellence that guided similar renovation works at Washington Plaza in 2017. The design was perfected to facilitate tailored floor plans and to support the changing needs of the tenant companies as they expand. Throughout, the project respected the hallmarks of an SFL office, in the management of natural light, lighting conditions, acoustics, modular spaces, etc.

GRESB: SFL ranked second in Europe

In June 2019, SFL was once again awarded the ‘Green Star’ label by the Global Real Estate Sustainability Benchmark (GRESB). Our sustainable development initiatives and efforts to collaborate with tenants on environmental issues were rated 94/100, the highest since we first participated in the assessment in 2012. The score positions SFL second among the listed Western European office property companies most committed to CSR issues and 25th out of 944 participants worldwide (all industries combined).

District cooling systems: a 100%-renewable air conditioning solution

SFL was one of the first office real estate companies to undertake an assertive programme to connect its buildings to the Paris district cooling network. In response to the system’s success and the positive feedback from tenants, the programme was expanded, so that a total of nine buildings had been connected by 2019, with three more soon to be added. A district cooling system comprises facilities that produce chilled water and distribute it through underground pipes.

Nothing is lost, everything is recycled

A refurbishing worksite generates an extraordinary amount of waste, much of which could be reused or recycled.

On the 83 Marceau site, the reuse of construction materials avoided the release of nearly 53 tonnes of CO₂e.

In addition, a partnership with two materials resale platforms was set up for the Washington Plaza worksite, where material from the transformed floor plates found a buyer even before they were dismantled.

Biome enjoys a prized location in the 15th arrondissement, just minutes away from some of Paris’ most iconic sights and surrounded by shops, commercial buildings and housing units. Built in 1966 by architects Raymond Lopez and Fernand Leroy, the building stretches over an entire block of tree-filled grounds, giving it two addresses. Vacated in November 2017 by its historic tenant, SMA, the property will be redeveloped to create a major new business centre in the west of the capital. Delivery is scheduled for second-half 2021.
Leasing

The Greater Paris Rental Market remained very firm in 2019, with the 2.3 million sq.m. leased positioned in line with the average take-up rate for the last ten years. This reflected robust corporate demand, which held steady during the year and even rose for premium products in the Central Business District and Paris Centre West.

As a result, the stock of available office space further declined, to 2.7 million sq.m. in greater Paris, where the vacancy rate ended the year at a particularly low 5.0%. Supply remains scarce in Paris Centre West, with a historically low vacancy rate of 1.4%.

These conditions logically led to an increase in nominal rents, of up to around 15% in the CBD, and to a reduction in rent-free periods and other lease incentives.

In this environment, SFL signed leases on around 56,000 sq.m. in 2019 on very good terms. The main new leases concerned:

- Louvre Saint-Honoré, with the fulfilment of the conditions precedent of the turnkey lease signed with the Cartier Foundation for 20,100 sq.m. GLA of retail space on the lower floors of the building.
- 106 Haussmann, with approximately 12,000 sq.m. pre-let to WeWork.
- 193 Grenelle, with a total of some 5,000 sq.m. let to several different tenants including ADP, Huawei and Wemanity.
- Édouard VII, with around 2,500 sq.m. let to Netflix.
- 176 Charles de Gaulle in Neuilly, with around 10,000 sq.m. pre-let to WeWork.
- 103 Grenelle, with a total of some 5,000 sq.m. let to several different tenants including ADP, Huawei and Wemanity.
- Édouard VII, with around 2,500 sq.m. let to Netflix.
- 176 Charles de Gaulle in Neuilly, with around 3,000 sq.m. let to FHP and Manpower.

In addition, new leases were signed with existing tenants such as GIE Carte Bancaire, Facebook, Zurich Insurance and Édouard Denis Développement, on expiry of their previous lease or to meet their changing needs.

Nominal rents for office leases signed in 2019 averaged €754 per sq.m., with effective rents averaging €659 per sq.m. for an average non-cancellable term of 8.1 years, reflecting the previously mentioned good performance of the rental market and the quality of SFL’s buildings.

The physical occupancy rate for revenue-generating properties continued to hold firm, at 97.4% at 31 December 2019 versus 97.3% a year earlier. The EPRA vacancy rate remained unchanged, at 1.6%.

These ratios confirm SFL’s ability to keep its lettable properties fully occupied.

Development

Properties undergoing development at 31 December 2019 represented roughly 18% of the total portfolio.

They consist mainly of the Group’s current three flagship projects concerning:

- around 20,000 sq.m. in retail space on the lower floors (first underground level, ground floor and first floor) of the Louvre Saint-Honoré complex, for which the planning appeal process for the new building permit obtained in March 2019 has now ended. Renovation work got under way in first-half 2020, under the turnkey lease signed with the Cartier Foundation.
- the Biome office complex on avenue Emile Zola (approximately 24,500 sq.m.), which is going to be remodelled from top to bottom. The planning appeal process for the building permit obtained in May 2018 has ended (the permit is now final), the property has been cleared and prepared for renovation and remodelling work has recently begun, with delivery scheduled for late 2021; and
- the 83 Marceau property (approximately 9,600 sq.m.), which is in the process of being redeveloped, with delivery scheduled for mid-2021.

Once these large-scale redevelopment projects are completed, they will enable SFL to deliver outstanding, superior-quality buildings embodying its value creation strategy.

Capitalised work carried out in 2019 totalled €49.9 million and concerned the above three redevelopment projects, as well as the full renovation of several floors in the Washington Plaza, 9 Percier and 176 Charles de Gaulle (Neuilly) buildings.
Rental Income

Rental income amounted to €198.7 million in 2019, up €5.2 million or 2.7% on the €193.5 million reported in 2018. Like-for-like growth stood at 3.1% for the year.

On a like-for-like basis (excluding all changes in the portfolio affecting year-on-year comparisons), rental income rose by €5.6 million or 3.1% in 2019, led by (i) the new leases signed in 2018 and 2019, mainly in the Washington Plaza, Cézanne Saint-Honoré, and Louvre Saint-Honoré properties, and (ii) rent increases in line with the corresponding indices.

Rental income from spaces being redeveloped was down by €2.9 million, mainly reflecting the departure of all the tenants from the 83 Marceau building, which is currently being renovated and remodeled, and the refurbishment of several floors in the 176 Charles de Gaulle building in Neuilly that were vacated at the end of 2018.

Lastly, penalty payments rose by €2.4 million, mainly due to the early termination of a lease at 103 Grenelle.
Property Portfolio and NAV

THE CONSOLIDATED PORTFOLIO VALUE AT 31 DECEMBER 2019 WAS €7.158 MILLION, EXCLUDING TRANSFER COSTS. THE ESTIMATED REPLACEMENT VALUE, INCLUDING TRANSFER COSTS, WAS €7.632 MILLION.

The portfolio value increased by 9.6% compared with 31 December 2018, with no changes in the portfolio during the year. The increase in appraised values primarily reflected:

- the targeted narrowing of investment market yields, particularly on the highest-quality assets,
- the strong lettings performance and the improvement in market rents,
- the progress on redevelopment projects during the year, in which a number of significant administrative and leasing milestones were reached.

EPRA NNNAV stood at €4,461 million or €95.9 per share at 31 December 2019, an increase of 11.1% compared with €86.3 per share at 31 December 2018. EPRA NAV rose by 11.6% year-on-year, to €99.4 per share.

2019 Performance

BUSINESS INDICATORS WERE PARTICULARLY ROBUST IN 2019, WITH RENTAL INCOME AND EPRA EARNINGS AT A RECORD HIGH AS A DIRECT RESULT OF THE STRONG LETTINGS PERFORMANCE, AN EXCELLENT OCCUPANCY RATE AND A FURTHER REDUCTION IN BORROWING COSTS.

Consolidated rental income amounted to €198.7 million in 2019, compared with €193.5 million in 2018, a year-on-year increase of 2.7% as reported and of 3.1% like-for-like.

Operating profit before disposals and fair value adjustments to investment property amounted to €172.8 million in 2019, an increase of 6.6% from €162.1 million the year before.

The portfolio’s appraisal value grew by 9.0% over the year, leading to the recognition of positive fair value adjustments to investment property of €526.9 million in 2019 (versus €289.0 million in 2018).

Net finance costs amounted to €28.1 million in 2019, compared with €32.0 million in 2018. Primarily due to (i) the €9.7 million reduction in non-recurring costs, which in 2018 had been sharply lifted by the repurchase of €300 million in bonds, and (ii) the €4.4 million decrease in recurring costs, reflecting a further improvement in average refinancing costs.

Excluding the impact of disposals, changes in the fair value of investment property and financial instruments and the related tax effect, the Group’s EPRA earnings rose by 11.8% in 2019 to a record high of €119.2 million compared with €106.7 million the previous year.

Profit for the year stood at €647.7 million, of which €589.8 million was attributable to shareholders.

Debt and Financing

CONSOLIDATED DEBT REMAINED VIRTUALLY UNCHANGED IN 2019, AT €1.7 BILLION, AND REPRESENTED VERY CONSERVATIVE GEARING, AT LESS THAN 25%. SEVERAL FINANCING TRANSACTIONS WERE CARRIED OUT DURING THE YEAR AS PART OF THE ACTIVE DEBT MANAGEMENT PROCESS. THESE TRANSACTIONS WERE DESIGNED TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THE LOW INTEREST RATE ENVIRONMENT TO FURTHER REDUCE THE COMPANY’S AVERAGE BORROWING COSTS WHILE EXTENDING THE AVERAGE MATURITY OF ITS FIXED-RATE HEDGES.

For example, a new €390-million five-year syndicated revolving line of credit has increased the amount and extended the maturity of the Company’s undrawn confirmed lines of credit, which totalled €390 million at 31 December 2019. The Company also took advantage of the very low interest rates available in the third quarter of 2019 to increase its fixed-rate hedges by setting up forward swaps and a collar on a total notional amount of €300 million expiring between September and November 2026.

During the year, SFL also increased to €500 million the maximum issuance under its negotiable European commercial paper (NEU CP) programme, whose outstandings came to €387 million at 31 December 2019. At 31 December 2019, consolidated net debt totalled €1,732 million, representing a loan-to-value ratio of 22.7%. The average maturity of net debt was 4.2 years and the average cost after hedging was 1.4%, down from the year-earlier level. The interest coverage ratio (ICR) stood at 6.6x for the year.
